Working for Smokey Bear

What a job! Since taking over the daily operations of Woodland Catalog last summer, and receiving lots of instruction from Mom, I have been especially impressed with two things. First, the amount of time and work it takes to operate a small business and how difficult it is to balance expenses with revenue. The other is how much gratitude has been expressed by our readers to Mom, or Dawn as you know her, for the 38 years she has put into making our wide selection of Smokey Bear products available to everyone with an interest in preventing wildfires. I am humbled by it all and promise to continue our efforts as a business and, especially, Mom's tradition, or what some might call a 'business model'—friendly and efficient service.

The past summer has been a tragic one as wildfires have taken their toll on our natural resources and human lives. I remember being told in school that most fires in our forests and rangelands were caused by lightning. That is certainly not the case now. More than 80 percent of wildfire starts can be traced to humans and, as we go to press in 2023, the National Interagency Fire Center reported nearly 2 million acres have burned.

At Woodland Catalog, we never forget that the bottom line is not only a matter of us surviving financially, but that we are an important part of the team working with—or for, if you prefer—Smokey Bear and the prevention of wildfires. Best wishes for a happy, peaceful winter season. Throughout the coming months I will do my best to help you in your efforts to carry Smokey's message to everyone who can help make 2024 a much safer year.

Our customers write...

Thank you for continuing your wonderful business! I always look forward to each new catalog

—Gregory L., Tucson, Arizona

A quick note of thanks. The order was prepped and shipped almost immediately. The products were carefully placed in the box with obvious care, and the materials that they were made of far exceeded my expectations. Thank you again for the great products, service, care, and attention to detail.

—Jason N., West Pawlet, Vermont

Our church group camping trip is this weekend and the kids are going to love the Smokey Bear pins and the litter bags for the scavenger hunt. I know you had a lot going on with moving but you still made the effort for me to get my order on time.
