A Beloved American Icon

Remembering Smokey with cake and good wishes this year and always.

Wow! The celebrations surrounding Smokey's 75th birthday have been amazing. From coast to coast there were parties, special events, and individuals sporting 75th T-shirts and hats or—like me—simply baking a cake and decorating it with a Smokey ornament and some green trees. And the celebrations continue! I think the publicity and activity may even be surpassing previous milestones like the 50th anniversary. Many thanks to the Ad Council, the National Association of State Foresters, the USDA Forest Service and all the other agencies and organizations that did an unprecedented job of publicizing Smokey's birthday and the cause for which he stands. Many thanks, too, to our customers who took advantage of this event to use our many products in an effort to spread Smokey's wildfire prevention message.

It was, and is, clear that Smokey is a much-loved icon—perhaps even a rare, uniting force for a cause that is supported across political, geographic and social boundaries. It is a cause that most of us recognize as one that will continue to be much needed. Jay Farrell, executive director of the National Association of State Foresters, has said it well, "Smokey Bear and his friends know that wildfire is not just a western issue or a summer phenomenon. It's always wildfire season somewhere in the United States. This is why it is so important that Smokey's message resonate year-round and nationwide with all Americans."

As always, we at Woodland Catalog are here to help do just that. Our gift to Smokey is a promise to carry on our tradition of fast, friendly service to make available educational resources and support materials that will help all of us prevent unwanted, human-caused wildfires.
